INSURANCE NOTICE.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

We are pleased to state that we are in receipt of advices, from the several Companies represented by us, stating that their financial standing will not be seriously impaired by their losses in the San Francisco conflagration.

That they will be able to pay all losses in that fire, in full, and still have ample surplus to meet all other liabilities.

Ellsworth, April 24, 1906. C. W. & F. L. MASON.

I HAVE heard from every company represented by this agency; and while I had no fears as to their ability to take care of San Francisco's losses, they assure me that in no case will the surplus be exhausted.

I solicit your business for the largest companies doing business.

FOR PURITY IN ELECTIONS.

Democrats and Republicans Agreed on at Least one Point.

The following correspondence is self-explanatory:

ELLSWORTH, AUG. 11, 1906.
T. F. Mahoney, Chairman Republican City Committee.

Dear Sir: At a meeting of our city committee recently held, it was voted to submit to your committee the enclosed agreement for your consideration and approval.

We are ready to execute the same, as we desire the coming election to be a full and free expression of the voters of this city, and free from bribery and other illegitimate influences on either side.

An early reply is requested.
(Signed) F. P. HAYNES,
Secretary Democratic City Committee.

ELLSWORTH, ME., AUG. 15, 1906.

Fred P. Haynes, Secretary Democratic City Committee.

My Dear Sir—A communication signed by you as secretary of the above committee addressed to me as chairman of the republican city committee of Ellsworth together with a form of agreement, not signed by your committee, has been received.

In reply I beg to advise you of the cheerful acceptance of your proposition with some additions by our committee, and herewith enclose agreement signed by our chairman and secretary which we trust will be accepted by your committee.

(Signed) T. F. MAHONEY, Chairman.

Following is the agreement, the words in italics being the additions referred to in Mr. Mahoney's letter:

"We, the undersigned, chairman and secretaries of the republican and democratic city committees, signing for our respective committees and candidates for office, and authorized to sign for them, do hereby agree for and in behalf of our respective committees and candidates that we will not use any money or liquor, or promises of such, to influence votes in the coming State election or in any future election, either before, during or after election day, nor will we permit such use on the part of any other person or persons so far as lies in our power to prevent the same."

UNITARIAN CONFERENCE.

Large Gathering at Ellsworth—Eminent Clergymen Present.

The fifteenth annual session of the Hancock county conference of Unitarian and other Christian churches, opened at the Unitarian church in Ellsworth last evening.

There was a large attendance at the opening service, and the fine weather of to-day brought many more people from all parts of the county, making the conference one of the largest in its history.

The pastors attending the conference, besides those whose names appear in the programme below, were Rev. George Fuller, of Pomona, Cal.; Rev. A. R. Scott, of Bangor, and A. H. Sargent, who is supplying the church at West Gouldsboro this summer.

The service last night opened with a devotional service led by Rev. Sidney Robins who is at present supplying the society at Sullivan. Special music included a solo by Miss Mary F. Hopkins and two violin solos by George P. Paine.

The sermon was by Rev. Samuel A. Elliot, D. D., president of the American Unitarian association, without whom a conference of the Hancock county Unitarians would be incomplete. He has been present at every conference except one when he was in Europe. Mr. Elliot prefaced his sermon by a few words of greeting. His entire address was more in the nature of a talk than a sermon. It was an inspiration to greater religious enthusiasm.

The meetings were resumed this forenoon at 9.30, when W. H. Dwyer, principal of the Ellsworth high school, delivered the address of welcome. This was followed by a devotional service led by Rev. Mary L. Leggett, of Winter Harbor, and a short business session.

At the business meeting Irving Osgood, president of the society, relinquished the chair to Rev. H. H. Sanderson, of Cambridge, Mass., who presided. Seven churches in the county reported delegates present, as follows: Bar Harbor, Winter Harbor, West Gouldsboro, Prospect Harbor, Sullivan, Lamoine and Ellsworth.

It was voted to hold the next conference in West Gouldsboro.

The addresses of the forenoon were on "The Sources of the Impulse to Social Regeneration", by Rev. A. L. Hudson, of Seaton, Mass., and "The Movement from the Old Faith to the New", by the Rev. William M. Brundage, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Interesting discussion followed.

At noon luncheon was served to visitors by the ladies of the Ellsworth church. Informal speeches followed, Rev. H. H. Sanderson presiding as toastmaster.

The programme for this afternoon includes a conference of alliance workers, led by Mrs. Caroline S. Atherton, vice-president for New England of the National alliance. A business session followed.

The principal address of the afternoon was by Rev. Thomas Van Ness, of Boston, on "Social Regeneration; some Hopeful Aspects".

All the services were well attended.

BROWNTAIL MOTH.

EMINENT SCIENTISTS TALK OF THE PEST.

ADVISE AS TO METHODS OF FIGHTING IT—MAINE SHOULD TAKE PROMPT AND ENERGETIC MEASURES.

Dr. O. L. Howard, chief of the bureau of entomology of the agricultural department, Washington, D. C.; Prof. A. H. Kirkland, superintendent of the gypsy moth commission in Massachusetts; Hon. A. W. Gilman, commissioner of agriculture of Maine; Prof. E. F. Hitchings, State entomologist, and other prominent citizens, met in Bangor last week to discuss the browntail moth situation in Maine, and to suggest ways and means of fighting the pest.

Prof. Hitchings said: "The work in this matter in Maine has been along educational lines rather than falling into line with Massachusetts, this being due to our small appropriation. We have notified town and city officials and have given them information how to fight the pest. The territory at present infested covers about 4,000 square miles, and extends from Kittery to Washington.

Inland it extends to points along the large rivers of the State. One place is Bucksport on the Penobscot, and it has now reached Waterville on the Kennebec, as in that city not long since, one male moth was found. Practically Augusta is the limit and the farthest point on the Androscoggin is the town of Turner. The work of the towns has been very encouraging with a very few exceptions. The town officials have taken hold of the matter as soon as notified, and there has been a liberal expenditure of money as well as of time.

"A year ago the work was very satisfactory indeed, but this year hasn't been quite so encouraging, though in most cases the different places have held to their former work. York county is badly infested, and in some towns they are discouraged. Not much has been done in New Hampshire, and so the York county people feel that they can do little when nothing is being done across the line, and if the insects are not prevented from passing into this State.

"In the coast towns and summer resorts the insects are plentiful, and we may call York the banner town. Last year there were expended $1,300 and 300 nests were taken. The town was cleaned thoroughly and this summer 200 nests were taken. This shows what an amount of work was done. In Old Orchard not a single nest was taken this year. I saw no indications of the pest there and the town clerk told me that no nests had been taken.

"The encouraging part of the matter is that when the town takes hold it means business and does not leave the thing to boys and girls to do as much a nest."

One year ago the State started in with an appropriation of $5,000 and employed fifteen men. During the first six or eight weeks more than half of the appropriation was expended. In most cases private citizens have been earnest in the work, although a few have refused to allow the officials to come near their premises to clean out the nests and have done nothing themselves. One man threatened to prosecute if any man came on to his land to take away the nests. Prof. Hitchings was of the opinion, however, that the bill passed by the Maine legislature provided that persons duly authorized might go on any man's land and fight the pests.

Prof. Kirkland talked interestingly of conditions in Massachusetts, saying: "After a somewhat extended experience with both insects in Massachusetts we can hold the gypsy moth in check, but not the browntail. It has spread through New England and may possibly extend to other parts of the country. In 1897 it was confined within an area of three square miles, and now we find it in all parts of New England.

We have just closed our first year's work under the new state law in Massachusetts. The legislature appropriated a lump sum and the law requires cities and towns to clean out the moths. Each city has its own officials and does its own work. When the city or town has been obliged to spend more than its share, the state reimburses, from a small percentage up to 80 per cent. of the amount paid out over and above the arbitrary sum.

"Then we have the individual duty. The work is based on the proportion of $5 to each $1,000 of the valuation of a man's property, and if he fails to clean off the moths on his premises the sum is charged up to him and if he refuses to pay, his property is sold, just as it might be sold for unpaid taxes. Each man is willing to go ahead, as he knows that his neighbor will not be allowed to maintain a nuisance.

"My suggestion is that at the next session of the legislature you get a general anti-browntail moth bill. The Massachusetts bill represents the consensus of opinion of over two hundred of the representative citizens of the state. I would urge you to have a bill passed as soon as possible at the next session of your legislature.

"I would urge vigorous action. The theory in Massachusetts in which we asked the assistance of the national government was that the matter had become an inter-state affair, as the moths had spread from our state to others. This gave us a suitable, just and proper base for asking the government to help us. We also felt in our state that until we had given evidence of our own good faith, or in other words had gone the limit, we could not ask for national aid. It is safe to say that the disbursements under the makes life now as safe in that city as on the higher uplands. E. W. Goodloe, who resides on Dutton St., in Waco, Tex., needs no sea wall for safety. He writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption the past five years, and it keeps me well and safe. Before that time I had a cough which for years had been growing worse. Now it's gone." Cures chronic Coughs, La Grippe, Croup, Whooping Cough and prevents Pneumonia. Pleasant to take. Every bottle guaranteed to E. G. MOORE'S drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

new law in Massachusetts will be about three-quarters of a million this year. My advice to the people of Maine is to go and do as the people of Massachusetts have done. Get a good law and you will have good ground to invoke the assistance of the national government."

Dr. Howard said that he came to this State as a matter of Christian duty, to ask and answer questions. He said that he hoped before returning to Washington to be able to know conditions in this State thoroughly. "I cannot conceive," said he, "that the government could do more for the State of Maine, or benefit it more, than by preventing the spread of the browntail moth. The most important thing to do in New England, however, is to prevent the spread of the gypsy moth. The actual work cannot be done by the national government, but must be done by the State government."

MR. GREELY'S STRING.

Some of the Good Ones Now in His Stable at Bangor.

[From Turf Farm and Home.]

Any one who meets Col. E. H. Greely, the veteran horseman, these days, would never guess for a moment that it was extremely hot weather or that there was any limit to the activities of stirring business man. He has as usual a large and long string of good ones that he is working at Maplewood Park, in Bangor, while at his home place in Ellsworth he has a lot of breeding stock that requires and is sure to receive attention every day.

When we called at the stable at the track the other morning the first one we caught sight of was Diego, a handsome brown stallion now three years old, that was sired by Columbo, and of course is a good one. He is a rugged put up fellow, and Col. Greely says that he can drive him a 30-clip all easy to-day. He is owned by F. C. Burrill of Ellsworth, who is going to give him a mark this season, and then if the mark is good enough he will use him in the stud next year, but he wants to try him out a little before he puts him into the breeding ranks.

The next seen was a two-year-old Columbo filly out of a mare by Dawn R., and as one looks at this thoroughbred looking young miss he cannot help wondering why some one didn't find out that Dawn R. was a great sire of brood mares, before he died. But it seems they didn't. Here was a great horse in his breeding, that ought to have been given a chance to show his ability to reproduce his kind, but just because some one got an idea that he was a no-account fellow he was relegated to the swappers and died unhonored and unsung. Here is a filly that would pass anywhere as a thoroughbred.

There never was a finer piece of mechanism put together at her age than this mare, and the Colonel fools himself with the idea that she can move down the street a 35 clip with great ease. She is level-headed, and acts old-fashioned enough to be good. One thing is certain, and that is the Colonel has nothing in the barn that he thinks any more of.

The next one seen is also a two-year filly that answers to the name of Pompon, and she's certainly bred in the purple if there is any purple in the breeding lines at all, for she is an older sister to Miss Columbo, and that reminds us that Lon McDonald, who is driving her, has told her owner, Mr. Lodge, that she is a 2.15 piece of goods this season, too, if he ever drove one in his life. Isn't that pretty loud talk, considering that this mare was bred and reared in this frozen country and was brought to the present condition by a gentleman that makes no pretense to being an expert handler, fitter or driver. The career of Miss Columbo will naturally be followed by Maine readers with no little interest.

An own brother to the above mentioned filly is a horse colt now two months old, and as he is to be kept entire perhaps it would be worth while to give a little of his breeding on the dam's side. We know enough already in regard to his sire Columbo without spending any time over him, his ancestors, or their performances.

The dam of this youngster was by Allie Wilkes, 2.15 1/4, second dam by Nutwood, third dam by Mambrino Boy, and here we get the dams of Allerton 2.09 1/4 and Axtell with a mark of 2.12 as a three-year-old, both of them champion stallions in their day. The fourth dam of this great youngster was by imported Bonnie Scotland, and he got the great trotter Scotland 2.22, the only imported horse to sire a trotter.

Col. Greely has set his heart upon this youngster, and it goes without saying that he will be given a great chance to develop early, not to say extreme speed. He has been named Hidalgo, which being interpreted means a Spanish gentleman. He was named by H. E. Lodge of Boston, the owner of Miss Columbo.

Mr. Lodge naturally takes a great interest in all the produce of the Allie Wilkes mare, and will watch Hidalgo with as much interest as he does the career of his own great filly. These fillies are entered in the Central Maine fair stakes, where it is expected they will give a good account of themselves.

The next seen was Miss Hussey, the five-year-old Columbo filly that took a mark last season, the only time she started, at Bangor, July 4, of 2.31 1/4. She has wintered well, and is looking strong and good, and will be campaigned this season in earnest. She goes at the pace.

Col. Greely is also working on a black three-year-old gelding sired by Columbo, out of a good Dawn R. mare, weighing 900 pounds, and good for a 50-clip at the pace. She is owned by Thomas Moran, of Bar Harbor, and is proving very satisfactory.

The four-year-old stallion Daniel Odell has wintered in fine shape and is out for the money and the mark this year. Like the rest of the good stuff in this stable this fellow is entered at Waterville and will show us what he can do down here at the fair this fall.

AFTER KIDD'S HOARD.

Remarkable Story of Treasure Hunt at Searsport Years Ago.

It would be difficult to find a strip of coastline about Penobscot bay which at sometime or other has not been explored in the hopes of finding the mythical treasures of that famous buccaner, Capt. Kidd. Nearly every fishing hamlet has its legend of buried treasure at some point or other on its shores, and the older inhabitants can tell you stories by the hour of the hunts which have been made to locate it.

If you ask it they will give you minute directions for searching for the treasure. In most cases these rules require that at a certain period of the moon, when its light will cause the shadow of some great tree, usually an oak, to fall in a certain direction, you shall visit the spot, and beginning at a given point on the shadow, pace so many steps in a given direction and then dig.

In the following of these directions many a man has wasted valuable days and hours and spent many a good dollar, for as yet no man has ever been able to locate, search as he will, any of the buried treasure of the pirate chief of the Spanish main.

In Searsport there are several spots where it has always been claimed the treasures were buried, and many attempts have been made to locate them. For this reason it is believed that the following story of a search many years ago, which was told recently by C. C. Garland, of Old Town, relates to this section of the bay. As the description of the place where the party made the search fits one of the spots where it has always been claimed the treasure was buried, this belief is strengthened.

The story was told to Mr. Garland more than twenty years ago by Capt. Samuel Rogers, dead these many years. A prominent resident of the town of Hampden organized and was the leading member of the party which had the adventure, and the incident thus told occurred many years prior to that time. The story is as follows:

In some manner Capt. Sam Rogers, as all Hampden called him, came into possession of a map which was alleged to be that of the hiding place of the treasures of Capt. Kidd. From the manner in which it came to him Capt. Rogers was convinced of its authenticity and determined to thoroughly investigate it. He carefully examined this map and the directions for reaching the spot where the treasure was said to be hidden. Thoroughly acquainted with the Penobscot river and bay, it required little study on his part to locate the inlet, at the head of which was the place.

Mr. Garland does not remember absolutely where Capt. Rogers said the inlet was situated, but feels quite certain it was in the town of Searsport. Old residents and persons acquainted with the traditions of the place have always located one of the treasure grounds of the piratical Kidd at the head of a little inlet in this town, so it is reasonable to presume that the adventure took place there.

Having located the place where the golden doubloons were concealed, as told by the map, the next thing to do was to get them. This was no small task, as Capt. Smith realized. It would be a difficult matter for one man to accomplish it, for the trip to and from the place must be made by water, and must be made with as much secrecy as possible. To go to the place in the broad light of day would be absurd and useless, for did not the directions say that at night, when the northern pine of the four which formed a square cast its shadow true to the north, one must stand at the south side of the tree, directly in line with the shadow, pace ten steps east southeast, make a turn and go thirty paces due east, and dig down to a big flat rock, under which would be found the riches.

But the getting together of a suitable party was a difficult matter, for only men who could be depended upon and who had confidence in the plan—for, even in those early days, there were those who were skeptical of the existence of Kidd's treasures—was a difficult job.

Among his friends, whom he felt he could trust, was one Herrick, a merchant in the town of Bradford. To him Capt. Rogers confided the story of the plan and displayed it to him. Herrick, like his friend, the sea captain, had confidence in his genuineness and agreed to take part in the search. They found three or four others—at the time he heard the story Mr. Garland knew the names of them all and the exact number, but in the haste and bustle of other things in a score of years they have slipped from his mind—who were anxious to have a hand in finding and sharing the buried gold.

A small sailing craft was fitted out for the trip, and the party, at the directed time of year, early October, sailed from Hampden down the river to the treasure ground in Searsport. In due course of time they arrived at the inlet, which the leader of the party had fixed upon as being the one which was designated in the map. Arriving there a reconnoitering expedition was made and all were jubilant for there they found the four great pines, which formed a square, just as the map called for.

That night there was subdued excitement aboard the little vessel. Supper was prepared, but no one partook of it. All were anxious for a peep at the gold and precious gems which were to be taken from beneath the big flat rock, which they surely expected to find.

Undoubtedly each one, without saying a word to his neighbor, was in his mind planning the things he would do with the newly acquired wealth.

At last the time to leave the vessel arrived. How eagerly they tumbled over the side and into the small boat to row ashore! Not one but what was eager to take the oars. No laggard that night. They sent the small boat flying through the water and in short time had reached the landing place.

It was exactly the hour of midnight when they pulled the nose of the little boat upon the bank and tumbled ashore. Rushing to the north tree they were overjoyed to find that the shadow pointed to the north, as truly as ever did the needle of a compass.

Capt. Rogers stepped to the south side of the tree, got his bearings, using a small hand compass for the purpose, and prepared to pace the distances as the directions required.

He took one step and then— There was a grand transformation scene. Each member of the party felt himself grasped by an unseen but powerful force and hurled through the air. With the exception of the leader, all were thrown beyond the square formed by the trees, and the cap'n would have been had not he struck the branches of the tree at the westerly side and hung to them.

After that not one of the party could have been tempted to continue the hunt, and from that moment to the time they closed their eyes in death they could not convince them but that the treasure of the pirate was there buried and was guarded, by the spirits of the piratical crew, from recovery by human hands.

Done Again.
"When we reached Ceylon," said a man who had gone around the world on a $600 tourist ticket, "I thought that we had struck at last a primitive and outlandish place, unsullied by civilization's hand."
"Strange outrigger boats filled the blue water, and men dressed like women, in bright silks, with long plaited hair and soft voices, offered us strange fruits, flowers and carvings in ivory and dragon-wood."
"I bought for a rupee an uncut ruby that the vendor had first asked eight rupees for. Ceylon is the land of jewels. They get there superb emeralds, rubies, amethysts and pearls. It seemed to me that I had a bargain."
"But the American Consul, said with a gruff, harsh laugh when I showed him my ruby:
"A piece of colored glass. Germany ships here tons of this glass every winter, made up to resemble the precious stones that Ceylon yields. These glass stones sell readily to tourists. The poor fools think they are buying gems swiped by the native miners from the mines."

KITTEY TO CARIBOU.

A large barn on the George L. Thomas estate, Auburn, was burned Thursday night. Loss, $5,000.

Harry Chase, aged nineteen years, of Auburn, was drowned a Lake Auburn Sunday by the upsetting of a canoe.

The thirty-fifth reunion of the 19th Maine Regimental association will be held Sept. 11, at Lakewood, about three miles north of Skowhegan.

Donald, son of ex-Mayor Hanson, of Calais, was drowned in the St. Croix river by the overturning of a boat. He was twenty-one years old.

The farm buildings of Martin Main, of Crystal, were burned Sunday, with contents, including a horse, two hogs and farming tools. The loss is $5,000; insurance $3,000.

Orin B. Whitten, one of Portland's best known citizens, for many years a prominent insurance man, a past grand master of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows, a former fish commissioner and member of the legislature, dropped dead at Peaks island Sunday.

E. Brooks, a school teacher of Waterboro, has been notified that he is heir to a property of $500,000 left by an uncle in the West. The knowledge of his inheritance came as a great surprise to Mr. Brooks, as he had not heard from this particular uncle for a long time and knew little about him.

George Watson, an employee of the Great Northern Paper company, at Millinocket, was found dead in the basement of the mill Friday. It is supposed that he was putting a belt over one of the pulleys when the belt broke and his head was crushed by a fall among the machinery. The deceased came from Rumford Falls about a year ago. He was thirty-eight years of age.

The total shipment of potatoes from the crop of 1905 over the Bangor & Aroostook railroad is 7,725,372 bushels. During the month of July, 1906, the last month of the season, 420 bushels were shipped. The total shipment from the 1904 crop was 6,894,071, which is exceeded 1,031,301 by the figures for the past season. This season is the record both in the total shipment and in the size of the crop.

MUTINEERS RESPITED.

President Roosevelt Extends Their Sentence to November.

Adams and Sawyer, the two negroes under sentence to be hanged at Wilmington, S. C., on Aug. 17 for murder of Capt. E. B. Rumill, of Pretty Marsh, and four others of the crew of the schooner Harry A. Berwind, have been granted a respite until November.

President Roosevelt granted this respite so that ample time can be had to make a thorough investigation. It is not regarded as probable that the men will be hanged, but some think they will be given life imprisonment.

It will be remembered that attorneys for Adams and Sawyer took an appeal to the United States supreme court, but the decision of the lower court was upheld. "Since the very first," says the Wilmington Messenger, "there have been many in this city who have believed Adams and Sawyer innocent, and there was no great surprise when Scott, before his execution, made his confession exonerating them."

Evarts Couldn't Help Him.

The late William M. Evarts once discovered E. Delaford Smith, the well-known lawyer and corporation counsel of New York, singing in church with all his heart. He whispered to a friend.

"Why, there is Smith singing 'I want to Be An Angel'. I knew he wanted to be district attorney, but I didn't know he wanted to be an angel."

The remark was repeated to Mr. Smith, and quick as a flash came the retort. "No, I never mentioned the matter to Evarts, knowing that he had no influence in that direction!"

The Democrat starts in its campaign of misrepresentation by saying: "Mr. Treworthy has agreed, if elected [sheriff], to appoint Mr. Eddy deputy sheriff at Bar Harbor." This is utterly untrue.

The weightiest argument the democrats have thus far put out against Mr. Giles, the republican candidate for representative is that he doesn't pay as large a tax as his democratic opponent. Terrible, isn't it?

Make No Mistake!

In another column may be found a very stirring letter by Dr. R. L. Grindle in which he sets forth some cogent reasons why, in his judgment, voters should cast their ballots for the republican rather than for the democratic candidates.

Disguise it as they will with half truths about State finances, republican extravagance and ring rule, the real fact is that the liquor question is chief among the State issues in this campaign.

On the one side is Gov. Cobb, the tried and proved champion of enforcement, who says: "I am opposed to local option and license. I believe that enforced prohibition is the best and most satisfactory method to regulate the liquor problem in Maine."

On the other side is Mr. Davis, a pronounced advocate of re-submission for the purpose of repealing the prohibition law in Maine with a local option and high license law.

When Candidate Davis Comes.

The democratic candidate for governor of Maine, the Hon. Cyrus W. Davis, is scheduled to appear in Ellsworth next Monday, Aug. 20.

Candidate Davis is greatly concerned over the manner in which the affairs of the State have been and are still being conducted. He is terribly exercised because the amounts paid to State officers are more than they were twenty years ago. It's a fact, but he states it as though it were a crime. Is Mr. Davis himself working for the same per diem that he received twenty years ago?

Candidate Davis finds that the expenditures of the State in 1885 were $1,321,463; in 1905 they were $2,423,502. Horrible! Does he intentionally omit to state in this connection that the State's income has increased in like proportion?

Candidate Davis seems to think it impossible of explanation that the amount raised by taxation in 1905 is so much larger than it was twenty years ago. Does he intentionally omit to remark that the rate of taxation—which is the real test of the tax burden—is substantially the same as it was twenty years ago?

Candidate Davis hints at unnecessary clerk hire in many of the departments. Does he intentionally overlook the fact that in many of the departments the work has enormously increased during the past twenty years? Take the insurance department, for example; twenty years ago the receipts in this department were $11,000; expenses $1,200; in 1905 the receipts were $123,700; expenses $4,200.

Twenty years ago the receipts in the secretary of State's office were $1,154; expenses $1,800; in 1905, receipts $169,400; expenses $4,400.

Do the figures of these two departments suggest extravagance? Is there any unreasonable disproportion between receipts and expenditures?

Candidate Davis wants to get control of the State's affairs so as to "expand", "build up" and "develop". Why, that's just what Maine, under beneficent republican management, has been doing for the past twenty years, but apparently Candidate Davis would have the people believe that there's been nothing doing in Maine during all these years, but that we are spending a great deal more than we were twenty years ago, and getting nothing for it.

Such appeals to prejudice as Candidate Davis is making, and such assumption of ignorance on the part of the people as to the real state of affairs, do not come with good grace from so keen a business man as Candidate Davis himself is known to be. He used the same sort of tactics two years ago, when they fell so flat that he and his party went down to a crushing defeat, and the wonder is that he is repeating them this year. "Shall Maine be honest?" is the question Candidate Davis is asking. Maine is honest; but can it be so long if stock is taken in the half-truths that this would-be governor is industriously setting forth?

Are They Sincere?

Our friends, the democrats have suddenly become exceedingly righteous. For weeks their organ in this county has had an "open letter" addressed to the republican city committee inviting it to join them (the democrats) in a glorious effort to suppress bribery in elections. This organ affects great surprise that nobody has paid the least attention to this great bluff. When at last the democratic committee actually addressed a letter to the republican committee, it very promptly received a courteous reply. The correspondence may be found in our news columns.

The republican committee has, as it should, taken this proposition seriously, though it is to be doubted if the democrats really expected it. They might with great propriety have asked that the republicans assent in writing to the soundness of the ten commandments.

In their haste to criticize, they didn't even give the republicans time to formulate an answer, but simultaneously with mailing their high-sounding "challenge" rushed it into print, saying: "Will they answer it?" and: "If they refuse, it is a confession that they can carry the city only by bribery, and that they intend to buy the voters."

Voters of Ellsworth, how do you relish being told that one out of every four of you will take rum or money from one side or the other—or from both? A more gratuitous insult to this law-abiding community was never offered even by democrats.

COUNTY GOSSIP.

TO GREAT POND MOUNTAIN.
Grand guardian of the lake whose name you bear,
Girt with pine forests and with granite crowned,
We see thee 'gainst the sky's cerulean blue,
A noble landmark known for miles around.

As when a child I saw thee, thou didst seem
A mount of mystery, peopled with strange forms
Unseen by most, yet visible to those Whose strong imagination to thee turns.

And when I reached thy summit, one fair day
And there beamed "the kingdoms of the earth," to me
There came a strange sweet longing for thy noble brow.

A longing tinged with awe and mystery.
And when at length I left thee, with sad heart
And 'gainst my will was carried far away,
The last fair passing glimpse I had of thee,
Was from the river, at the close of day.

Revere, Mass., 1906.

That gooseberry bush on Mrs. S. H. Remick's place at Marlboro is still doing business, turning out gooseberries of monstrous size and delicious flavor. The Gossip acknowledges receipt of a sample.

Over at Castine the auto-terror has butted up against the church. An attempt to turn a corner at high speed failed, and the machine ran into the Episcopal church. It came out of the encounter with a twisted axle, a punctured tire and minus a lantern. The church was not damaged.

The most important real estate deal in Hancock county in recent years is the sale of the Frank Jones property at Sorrento to a New York syndicate. W. H. Lawrence, former manager for Mr. Jones at Sorrento and who negotiated the sale, in a personal letter to THE AMERICAN says: "I think this property has come into good hands for future development." There is no more delightfully located resort on this grand coast of Maine, not excepting even the imperial Bar Harbor, and with the right men behind it, Sorrento would soon rival in popularity and population its sister town across Frenchman's bay.

Vote Right!

MT. DESERT, ME., Aug. 13, 1906.

To the Editor of The American:

The time of our State election is drawing nigh. And there is much reason for anxious thought and earnest work on the part of well-disposed people, that the voters of our State shall be thoroughly aroused to a full understanding of the great importance of this election.

For the great question of this campaign is whether or not our State shall be filled with legalized grogshops. And the situation is such that a vote for Gov. Cobb says: No. And a vote for Candidate Davis says: Yes.

Which way are you going to vote? Surely it is your intention to vote for your own interests, and for the best interest of the community in which you live. And if you really believe that grogshops are a help to you and your community, then you are consistent in voting for them.

But you do not believe any such thing. You know that they are no help to you or to anyone else except those who keep them. You know that grogshops in a community are no help to those who patronize them; on the contrary, they take many dollars and cents from the pockets of their customers, customers who in most cases are not able to waste their money in such a way.

If your business is such that you employ men, you know that rum-shops in your vicinity would often make part of your men unfit for service. If you are selling goods, you know that if saloons are near you that they will get much of the money with which your customers should pay their bills. If you are raising a family, you well know that the work and influence of saloons will be no help to them.

If you feel an interest in the welfare of your neighbors, then your heart will often be made sad as you witness the havoc which rum brings into their homes and families.

But pointing out the many ways in which saloons cause trouble is only rehearsing an old story with which everyone is already familiar. For everyone knows that the effect of the liquor traffic is bad all the time and everywhere. It does not even in the smallest amount of good as a partial offset to the great amount of evil done.

But perhaps someone will say that even if all the rum shops were put out of business, men still would get liquor and drink it. Yes, some men would. Many would not. No thoughtful person ever supposed that prohibition would entirely prevent the practice of drinking, but that it would greatly diminish it; and I believe that it does so. I believe that wherever the law has been well enforced that the result has been a means of preventing the use of intoxicants; that it has proved that prohibition is the best thing yet devised to protect society from this great evil.

One function of government is to protect its subjects from danger and harm. The liquor traffic is both dangerous and harmful. It makes drunkards. And drunkenness is temporary insanity—a loss of reason. What greater crime could one commit against one of God's rational beings than to deprive him of his reason? And the proposition that the government, whose business it is to give protection should license men to engage in a business which deprives men of their reason is simply abominable. It involves criminal inconsistency.

I do not see how any benevolent, conscientious man can consistently support a party which is trying to get into power by upholding such a proposition.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: P. J. Arthur S. Newman Dead.

Arthur S. Newman, of Bar Harbor, whose serious illness was reported in THE AMERICAN last week, died Wednesday at Rock Pond, Moosehead lake.

Mr. Newman had many friends all over the State, particularly in the northern and eastern sections. He was for a time in the employ of J. C. Towsie & Co., Bangor. From Bangor he went to Portland, where he entered the employ of the concern now the Twitchell-Chapman Co., which for many years and at the time of his death he represented and was interested in.

A friend writes of him: "It would be difficult to imagine a personality better fitted for a career in the difficult vocation of traveling representative for a large wholesale concern than that of Mr. Newman. His business instincts were keen, and while courageously honest and unflinchingly fair, he could not be imposed upon. His genial nature and pleasant cordiality brought him friends everywhere. Sharp and earnest, with unvarying care that his patrons received fair treatment, he held for his house the trade he had gained by his splendid character. It is not exaggeration to say that one could travel over his route all over the State and not find one customer but would speak in praise. Mr. Newman was as courteous and upright a man as ever represented a business concern in Maine."

Mr. Newman also had business interests at Bar Harbor, being vice-president of the First National Bank and president of the Bar Harbor Coal Co.

He leaves a widow and two children—William, who is in Bowdoin college, and Louise, still in the high school.

Picnic at Bonsey's Wharf.

Last Friday a party numbering fourteen assembled at Bonsey's wharf for a picnic. The day was perfect. The velvet grass, ample shade beneath the ancient willows, the cool breeze which the incoming tide brought, made it an ideal spot for such a gathering.

A delicious chowder was served, to which all did justice; coffee fit for a king, fruit of all kinds in abundance, pies, cakes, pickles and salads, to say nothing of M. S. X's doughnuts, which played no small part in the menu. The sail down the bay to Weymouth point in Edmund Bonsey's launch, added not a little to the enjoyment of the occasion. After a light supper, when the sun was getting low in the west, with its rays no longer sun-burned faces, the picnicers wended their way homeward, all agreeing it to be one of the pleasantest days ever spent.

Those present from out-of-town were Miss Annie LeFevre, of Iowa City, Iowa; Charles Bachelder and wife, of Beverly; Miss Alice Adams, of Newburyville, Mass.; and Mrs. Charlotte Clement, of Bucksport.

Others in the party were Mrs. Laetitia Lord, Mrs. S. K. Whiting, Edmund Bonsey and wife, John Q. Adams and wife, Mrs. Sannie Murch, Miss Corinne Smith, Mrs. Roland Bonsey and daughter Ethel, all of this city.

Appointed Bishop of Portland.

Rev. Father Louis S. Walsh, of Salem, Mass., has been appointed bishop of Portland, to fill the position made vacant by the elevation of Bishop William H. O'Connell to be archbishop coadjutor of Boston.

The Four D's.

Charles Spurgeon once said that there were three great enemies to man—"dirt, debt and the devil." He might have added one more and included dyspepsia. The evils of this disease could hardly be exaggerated. Its effects are felt in mind and body, and are as far-reaching as the effects of the curse that was laid on the Jackdaw of Rheims which was cursed in "eating and drinking and sleeping, in standing and sitting and lying." The good effect of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are marked in an aggravation of chronic cases of dyspepsia. It enables the stomach glands to secrete the necessary quantity of digestive fluids, and this at once removes that craving or gnawing sensation so common to certain forms of indigestion. It tones and regulates the stomach, invigorates the liver and gives the blood-making glands keen assimilative power. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures ninety-eight per cent. of those who use it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are superior to all other laxative medicines when the bowels are obstructed.

STATE OF MAINE.
To the Honorable, the Judge of the Probate Court in and for the county of Hancock:

RESPECTFULLY represents Eben K. Whitaker, of Eden, in said county, that he is the surviving partner of the late partnership of Jordan & Whitaker, which said partnership consisted of him, the said Eben K. Whitaker and Albin F. Jordan, late of said Eden, deceased; that your said petitioner as surviving partner, died a bond and was authorized at the April term of your honorable court held at said Eden, to said county of Hancock, on the first Tuesday of April, A. D. 1906, to close the affairs of said partnership estate; that a part of the partnership assets consists of real estate situated in Bar Harbor, in said Eden, and hereinafter particularly described, to wit:

1. A certain lot or parcel of land, together with the buildings thereon, situated in that part of said Eden, known as Bar Harbor, and particularly bounded and described as follows, to wit:

Beginning on the southern side of Cottage street at the northwest corner of said street, of the land described as conveyed in the deed from the Mount Desert Island Real Estate Company to Daniel W. Brewer, dated July 1, 1887, and recorded in Hancock county, Maine, registry of deeds, in book 22, page 191; thence south eight degrees west, following the western line of said land conveyed by said company to Brewer, seventy-five and nine-tenths feet to the northwest corner of lot No. 15 as shown on a plan made for said company by Charles P. Simpson, recorded in said registry of deeds, book of plans 1, page 33; thence south by lot three degrees thirty-six minutes east, forty-seven feet to the southwest corner of the lot conveyed by said company to Alvin H. Jordan by deed dated July 1, 1887, and recorded in said registry of deeds; thence north by lot always following the western line of said Alvin H. Jordan lot seventy-six feet, more or less, to Cottage street; thence west, following Cottage street, to the point of beginning, containing 3,570 square feet, more or less. Being the same property conveyed from Frank L. Brewer to said Jordan and Albin F. Jordan by deed dated Sept. 11, 1893, and recorded in book 298, page 71, of the registry of deeds for said county of Hancock, to which deed and record reference is hereby expressly made.

2. Also another certain lot or parcel of land situated in that part of said town of Eden, known as the village of Bar Harbor, and bounded and described as follows, to wit:

Commencing at a point in the eastern side line of Barnard avenue and seventy (70) feet from the northern side line of Cottage street; thence in an easterly direction parallel with and everywhere seventy (70) feet distant from the northern side line of Cottage street seventy-five (75) feet more or less, to the western line of the Shirley lot, so-called; thence in a northerly direction on, but everywhere following the western line of said Shirley lot, forty (40) feet; thence in a westerly direction parallel with and everywhere forty (40) feet distant from the first described line to the eastern side line of Barnard avenue; thence in a southerly direction following the eastern side line of Barnard avenue, to the point of beginning; together with a way, for all purposes of a way, in common with the grantors, their heirs and assigns, over a way less (10) feet wide extending from the eastern end of the southern line of the above described lot in the northern line of said way; also a right of way in common with the grantors, their heirs and assigns, over Barnard avenue, as now shown on a plan made for said company by Charles P. Simpson, recorded in said registry of deeds, book of plans 1, page 33, and premises described as conveyed by M. A. Greeley et al. to said Jordan & Whitaker by warranty deed dated Sept. 11, 1893, and recorded in book 403, page 290, of the registry of deeds for said county of Hancock.

Also another certain lot or parcel of land situated in that part of said town of Eden, known as the village of Bar Harbor, and bounded and described as follows, to wit:

Beginning at a point in the eastern side line of Barnard avenue and seventy (70) feet from the northern side line of Cottage street; thence in a southerly direction following the eastern side line of Barnard avenue, to the point of beginning; together with a way, for all purposes of a way, in common with the grantors, their heirs and assigns, over a way less (10) feet wide extending from the eastern end of the southern line of the above described lot in the northern line of said way; also a right of way in common with the grantors, their heirs and assigns, over Barnard avenue, as now shown on a plan made for said company by Charles P. Simpson, recorded in said registry of deeds, book of plans 1, page 33, and premises described as conveyed by M. A. Greeley et al. to said Jordan & Whitaker by warranty deed dated Sept. 11, 1893, and recorded in book 403, page 290, of the registry of deeds for said county of Hancock.

Also another certain lot or parcel of land situated in that part of said town of Eden, known as the village of Bar Harbor, and bounded and described as follows, to wit:

HOT WEATHER DEBILITY.

How to Protect Oneself Against Heat, Fatigue and Summer Diseases.

Many people are so easily affected by the hot weather as to be capable of but little work during the summer months.

Inquiry among this class will show that in nearly every instance there is a weak stomach and more or less indigestion.

Put the digestive organs right by using Mi-o-na stomach tablets and the summer time will prove the pleasantest, and most desirable and enjoyable season of the year.

One little Mi-o-na tablet before each meal will give you life, vitality, energy and physical endurance during the heated term and ward off the ordinary diseases of summer. Mi-o-na is not an ordinary summer tonic or digestive it is a true strengthener of the digestive system, building up the organs to perfect health and vitality by curing the indigestion and absolutely removing all pains and distress in the stomach, specks before the eyes, sick and nervous headache, and other symptoms that come from a weakened stomach.

Mi-o-na makes positive and lasting cures and is sold by G. A. Pacher under an absolute guarantee that it will cure all diseases of the stomach, except cancer, or the money will be refunded.

Ask him to show you the guarantee he gives with every 50c box of Mi-o-na.

You will want Flowers sometime!

Not Only Lower Prices But Improved Quality Also

If the straight-line methods of the National Cigar Stands did no more than to show the reduction in prices which all their cigars do show, the triumph of the idea would be plain enough. But the plan has effected more than mere price-saving—it has given better average quality throughout, a better system of cigar keeping, an invariable uniformity of character—in short, a higher degree of safety to the customer.

The purchaser of a cigar of any one of the thirty exclusive National brands takes no chances whatever. He is definitely assured that he is getting

The Best Cigar Value the Money Has Ever Secured

Whatever the price he pays, it purchases better tobacco and more of it than the same price has ever bought before. He is getting the cigar nearest to the actual cost of production than cigars ever retailed before the National plan was evolved. He is getting a cigar that was made in million lots (thus ensuring uniformity), and which came direct from the producer, thus saving cost.

The drug stores which belong to the combination, display the National Cigar Stands' emblem in their windows, and sell from a new, scientific, condition-proving case the following brands, among others:

Black and White —Seed and Havana; as good as was ever bought at 3 for 25c.	5c

THE AMERICAN has subscribers at 107 of the 117 post-offices in Hancock county. All the other papers in the County cannot reach so many. THE AMERICAN is not the only paper printed in Hancock county, and has never claimed to be, but it is the only paper that can properly be called a COUNTY paper; all the others are merely local papers. The circulation of THE AMERICAN, bearing the Bar Harbor Record's summer list, is larger than that of all the other papers printed in Hancock county.

SOUTHWEST HARBOR.

M. H. Mason, of Sorrento, is spending a few days with his parents.

Mrs. John Walls, who has been seriously ill several weeks, seems a little improved.

George Harmon's motor bicycle creates nearly as much noise and flurry as the tahoed autos.

Hotels and cottages are filled to overflowing. The fine weather of late admits of enjoyable excursion parties.

Martin Lurvey, of Lowell, Mass., after a stay of three weeks at Southwest Harbor, has returned home. Freeman Lurvey returned to Massachusetts a week earlier.

Rev. George H. Hefflon has been at Southwest Harbor for a week. His many friends were glad to hear his voice again from the pulpit Sunday evening. Mr. Hefflon has resigned from the church in Dublin, N. H., and is ready to respond to a new call.

Rev. Mr. Archibald, who is again with his family at the Fiske cottage, preached an able sermon at the Congregational church Sunday morning, Aug. 12. Rev. F. J. Goodwin will preach Aug. 19 and Rev. C. F. Dole on Aug. 26. This will give the pastor a needed rest, though he is unable, through having in his home his wife's invalid mother, to go away for his vacation.

SEWING CIRCLE SALE.

The annual midsummer sale of the Congregational sewing circle was held at Odd Fellows' block Tuesday, Aug. 8, and proved a very pleasant affair. The fine weather, efficient committees and generous patronage combined to make the sale a success though many regretted the fact that an evening entertainment could not various for reasons be arranged.

The hall, with its half-dozen pretty decorated booths, presented a bright appearance. One of the unique features was the "sample booth", in charge of Mrs. Rodrick Clark, where in the midst of very taking posters, specimen goods from fully fifty manufacturers, kindly contributed at Mrs. Clark's solicitation, were sold to willing purchasers. The flower booth, in charge of Mrs. May Lawton, was well patronized. The homemade candy, displayed in tempting lots in a corner bower under the care of Mrs. Florence Clark and Mrs. Annie Lawton, found ready customers.

The cake table, Mrs. Julia Guley in charge, made a pretty display, while the needle work department, presided over by Mesdames Higgins, Lawton and Tarr, did a thriving business. Refreshments of ice-cream and cake, under the management of Mrs. Fannie Crockett and Mrs. Savage, brought into the treasury lots of dimes and nickels.

The generous contributions of friends outside of the circle is gratefully appreciated, many of the guests at the Claremont and Dirigo giving beautiful pieces of needle work, also gifts of money. One of the circle members, Miss Harvey Hodgkins, from her summer home at Sorrento never forgets the "circle", and this year, as in several past seasons, sent in a check for $10, the gift of Mrs. Cochran to Mrs. Hodgkins' home church for which warm thanks are due.

Aug. 13. SPRAY.

Mrs. M. C. Trundy has six boarders from Belmont, Mass.

Charles Cook and wife, of Bangor, are spending a few weeks at their old home here.

The stork paid a visit to Henry Burrill and wife Thursday night, bringing a fine baby girl.

F. E. Miller and wife, of Newport, R. I., and Carter and wife, of Belfast, and Frank Sawyer, of Bangor, were registered at Lily Lake house last week.

Hannah, widow of E. P. Dodge, died at her home July 29, after a long illness, at the advanced age of seventy-four years. Mrs. Dodge will long be held in loving remembrance in the community. Childless herself, her mother-love reached out to bless the children, and many found a home with her, and loved her as a mother. "Aunt Hannah," as she was lovingly called by the little folks, was ever ready to perform some kind deed for them, and such acts are not soon forgotten. Mrs. Dodge was a member of the Southwest Harbor Methodist church. She was a true and consistent Christian, ever willing to respond to the call of suffering and trouble, and a kind friend and neighbor whose place will not soon be filled.

Cyrus Roberts, of Brewer, is in town a few days, the guest of Wallace Tibbitts.

Emery Willey and wife are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Aug. 9.

Freeman Jordan and wife, of Ellsworth Falls, visited their sister, Miss Nancy Jordan, one day last week.

Herbert Salisbury and wife, of Ellsworth, were guests last Wednesday of Willis Salisbury and wife.

Albert Kincaid was called to Ellsworth last Friday by the illness of his mother, Mrs. William Kincaid, who had a slight shock.

Mrs. Mary Jordan, of Bangor, who has been in town several weeks with relatives, leaves for Ellsworth this week to visit her daughter, Mrs. Asa Flood, before returning home.

Mrs. Aaron Salisbury is another victim to the many accidents that are happening in town of late. She fell on the stairs and injured her left hand so severely that a physician was called and took several stitches. The next victim was little Nina Robbins, who badly scalded her face one day last week, by upsetting a cup of tea.

The Jordan reunion last Wednesday brought many to town in advance to visit their connections. Among those at Mrs. Bettie Salisbury's were: Mrs. Asa Flood and friend, of Ellsworth Falls; Mrs. Elizabeth Maxfield and Seth Jordan, of Bangor. Mrs. Addie Grover entertained at tea the evening of the reunion, twelve relatives from Brewer and Eddington.

San. B. Salisbury died after a short illness last Wednesday evening, at the age of eighty-one years. He leaves a wife, three sons and one daughter. Two young daughters, Alice and Roxie, died some years ago. The others are David and Arthur, of Ellsworth; Jed, with whom he lived, and Mrs. Anna Banker, of Bangor, who was at the old home and with him through his illness until the end. With the demise of Mr. Salisbury, the community has lost one of its most respected citizens and a good Christian always. As one of his old associates and neighbors remarked, "he never was afraid to pray," and on many occasions, he has well filled the absence of the pastor. Not only will he be missed and mourned in the home, but by all old and young. The funeral was held at the home Friday afternoon.

I Think It Would Save SUFFERING

Dear Sirs:— Bangor, Me., Mar. 3, 1904.

Have used your "L. F." Medicine; I can truly say it has done me lots of good. I feel it a duty to offer a testimonial. I was troubled with Biliousness of the worst kind, and by using the "L. F." Bitters I found relief in a short time. I think if the people used it more it would be a great saving of doctor bills.

Respectfully yours, Miss C. L. PINKHAM.

You and your family can be saved much suffering by the prompt use of "L. F." Atwood's Bitters.—Dyspepsia, Impure Blood, Biliousness and Headache yield to its safe, specific action.

A VETERAN OF THE SPANISH WAR

Expresses His Great Faith In Pe-ru-na.

Pe-ru-na Is a Tonic Especially Adapted to the Prevention and Relief of All Catarrhal Affections Due to the Vicissitudes of Climate and Exposure Experienced by the Soldier.

An Old Soldier's Praise.

Mr. F. R. Cox, Center Oak, Pa., writes: "I was taken with hemorrhages of the stomach and had from one to three a year."

"The doctors said my stomach could not be cured, and it was only a question of how soon one of these spells would kill me, and I was given up several times, as they had no hopes for me."

"I finally wrote to you, and you said if it was not a cancer or a tumor, Peruna would cure me."

"I commenced taking Peruna right away, and have never had one of those spells since."

"I am an old soldier, one of Phil Sheridan's Rough Riders, and pretty nearly played out now, but I have a pretty good stomach again."

Assistant War Correspondent Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Mr. H. B. Manley, Assistant War Correspondent during the war in China, care "Black and White," 688 Craig St., Montreal, Canada, writes:

"When a man travels in extremely hot or cold climates, he realizes how valuable a friend he has if he carries a bottle of Peruna."

"I know of no article in my traveling outfit which I have learned to prize higher."

"If you are suffering with the extreme heat, Peruna restores you, or if you are afflicted with a cold, la grippe or bronchitis, Peruna restores you in a short time."

"Or if you suffer with sleeplessness or if your appetite is poor, again Peruna acts as a good, true friend and is the tonic needed."

"I have tried it for months and am only too glad to acknowledge it as a true, loyal standby in times of trouble. I do not hesitate to recommend it to all."

I. T. Markland, a well-known business man of Cincinnati, O., address R. R. No. 1, Mt. Washington, Ohio, writes:

"I find that in my case Peruna is a flesh builder. I am now at work every day, and have gained ten pounds. I took your Peruna according to directions and the result was more than I expected. I took no other medicine but Peruna, and it accomplished all. You told me in your first letter that you thought Peruna would cure me and it has. I am seventy-three years old and can attend to my business as usual."

ABLE TO WORK AT THE AGE OF SEVENTY-THREE YEARS.

COL. ARTHUR L. HAMILTON.

Gallant Porto Rican Soldier Gives Praise to Pe-ru-na.

Col. Arthur L. Hamilton, of the Seventh Ohio Volunteers, writes from 259 Goodale St., Columbus, O., as follows:

"Besides having the merits of Peruna fully demonstrated in my family, I have a number of friends who have taken it for catarrh and stomach trouble and all unite in praising it. As a remedy for catarrh, I can fully recommend it."

In a later letter to Dr. Hartman, Col. Hamilton writes:

"My command used your Peruna during our service in the Spanish-American War and I will say this, that if the War Department records are consulted, it will be found that the casualties in my regiment were less than in any other regiment of the Army Corps while at Camps Alger, Meade and Bushnell. The total deaths in my regiment, during the seven months' service, were seven out of a total number of 1400. I, of course, cannot help but think that Peruna certainly was a great benefit to my command."

In a recent letter, Col. Hamilton says:

"I have used Peruna myself and in my family for the last seven years. I have already written you about the good results I experienced with your remedy during the Spanish-American War."

In old age the mucous membranes become thickened and partly lose their function.

This leads to partial loss of hearing, smell and taste, as well as digestive disturbances.

Peruna corrects all this by its efficient operation on all the mucous membranes of the body.

One bottle will convince anyone. Once used and Peruna becomes a life-long standby with old and young.

For free medical advice, address Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O. All correspondence held strictly confidential.

Mr. Fred Dersoweb, Ridgely, Tenn., writes:

"We have been using Peruna for five years. I believe that it is the best medicine that I know of."

"I and my wife and our thirteen children do not need any doctor, since we use Peruna."

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of the catarrh.
